City of Newton
Newton Historical Commission
Early Industrial Period Architectural Survey - Phase III

NARRATIVE STATEMENT

The City of Newton Planning and Development Department provides staff assistance and preservation expertise to the Newton Historical Commission, local historic district commissions, and the overall community. Preservation staff has noticed targeted development pressure on historic buildings in the City of Newton, which has revealed data gaps in existing survey information and sparse documentation of Newton's historic properties. In FY10 the City of Newton completed an intensive level survey of the oldest architectural resources in the City, dating up through the Federal Period (c.1830). In FY12, the City began documenting buildings from the next major period of architectural development, the Early Industrial Period (1830-1870). Given the number of potential targets, the intensive-level survey of buildings from the Early Industrial Period has been broken up into phases. Phase I, (completed), surveyed 150 buildings dating from 1831-1850. Phase II (completed), also MHC funded, continued documentation of the Early Industrial Period (1830-1870) by surveying an additional 100 properties. The proposed Phase III will survey another 125 properties.

Our goal for the proposed FY14 project is to complete Phase III, which is to survey an additional 125 buildings dating from 1831-1870 in an effort to preserve these buildings and educate the public on their crucial role in Newton's architectural heritage. As with our ongoing survey project, we plan to thoroughly document the resources by filling the data gaps in previously completed architectural surveys; newly surveying undocumented or minimally documented resources; and making the information available to city staff and the public. Although the level of existing information about cultural resources in the City of Newton is comparatively high, we have found that architectural reconnaissance surveys completed over thirty years ago lack information that is valuable in evaluating historic significance, particularly for demolition-delay applications.

The sheer number of architectural surveys completed in Newton over the years show that Newton has an extraordinary collection of cultural resources. The City of Newton has recognized this fact, and has devoted significant municipal resources to planning for and preserving historic properties in Newton. However, improvements to the system are still necessary. In recent years, the lack of available buildable land in Newton has threatened older cultural resources with demolition, particularly buildings situated on large lots. Historic resources proposed to be studied in this survey were generally built on smaller lots, but are nevertheless undergoing intense development pressure because they are often located on multi-family zoned lots and now in desirable village center locations for new townhouses. It is the intention of the Planning and Development Department to use this survey project to better protect these vulnerable resources by expanding the public's understanding of Newton's early industrial roots; to further our program of public education, and enhance municipal coordination.

This work will culminate in a list of properties and/or districts that will be recommended for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places, if not already listed.
SCOPE OF WORK

PROJECT OBJECTIVES

The purpose of this project will be to undertake an intensive level survey of historic, cultural and architectural resources in the City of Newton, dating from 1831 to approximately 1870. This project will provide professional historic preservation survey expertise via a preservation consultant to the City of Newton, and is designed to build and expand upon previous efforts and existing survey information by documenting 125 properties. The survey will maximize the use of technological data sharing in the City, using, for example, the municipal GIS and Assessor's Department online database. Specific project goals are as follows:

1) To conduct a communitywide survey to assess and document approximately 125 selected cultural and architectural resources of the Early Industrial period, following Massachusetts Historical Commission (MHC) survey standards and methodology.
2) To identify contexts for National Register evaluation and to apply the National Register criteria to all resources identified in the survey;
3) To submit to MHC a list of individual properties and/or districts, which are recommended for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places.

The decision to target historic buildings in Newton by date rather than neighborhood is based on our intention to identify Early Industrial Period neighborhoods in Newton that have not been intensively surveyed, to identify unknown Early Industrial Period buildings, and to examine patterns of development. The MACRIS list for the City of Newton and the City of Newton's assessor's records contain a total of 1,202 buildings constructed in the target date range. Based upon completed survey work in Phase 1 the current target count of buildings in the period is 958 properties. As part of Phase II an additional 100 properties are being surveyed and in the course of this work additional targets will be eliminated due to satisfactory documentation, incorrect construction dates, or lack of integrity. Based upon work completed thus far in Phase 2, the majority of 234 targets from the Assessor's database have been eliminated as either substantially altered or constructed after the target date range. It is anticipated that after Phase 2 is complete that approximately 660 MACRIS and Assessors database targets will remain for Phase 3.

As with Phases I and II, efforts will be concentrated on properties that have not been previously surveyed as well as those without any special preservation protection. Properties within the identified target date range located within local historic districts or that have other preservation protections placed on them will not be resurveyed unless updated documentation is needed. The remaining resources with existing B Forms will be reviewed for their accuracy and will be resurveyed if updated or corrected documentation is needed. If research determines a property is outside of the target date range, the consultant will do the research necessary to confirm the later construction date and provide the corrected information for future survey updates and corrections to the City of Newton's Assessor's database. All qualified resources will be photographed and evaluated for National Register eligibility.

Ms. Holmes will manage the project, oversee selection of the consultant, and coordinate GIS updates. Ms. Holmes will also ensure that all available data is conveyed to the consultant and prepare public education materials for targeted property owners on the proposed project.

METHODOLOGY

The Analytical Framework:

The MHC criteria for conducting a communitywide survey are designed to identify the full range of cultural resources. Cultural resources are the physical elements in the landscape that remain from historical patterns of human activity. There are many components of a community's historical development that are associated with the location and type of surviving cultural resources. A communitywide survey should therefore relate cultural resources to historic patterns of architectural development, land use, economic development, social and demographic history, and events that had an impact on the community. The communitywide survey should recognize ethnic and cultural diversity within the community, and seek to identify cultural resources associated with the history of the minority social and cultural groups and individuals that may have played a role in the community's history.

The MHC Reconnaissance Survey Town Report for Newton (1981) and the corresponding MHC Reconnaissance Survey Regional Report for the Boston Basin, Historic and Archaeological Resources of the Boston Area (1982), existing survey forms and National Register nominations on file with the MHC will provide a preliminary framework and base of information for this analysis. Individual forms and area forms will expand upon the information in the Town Report and will relate inventoried properties to the significant themes in the historical development of Newton.

Phase Meetings:

The project consists of four phases. Project personnel, consisting of City of Newton preservation staff and a preservation consultant(s), will meet with MHC staff at MHC offices in Boston to review project progress and products at the end of each phase. Work to be carried out during each phase and products due at the end of each phase, are described below.

The Inventory:

A qualified, outside consultant will complete the inventory. The communitywide survey will consider the full range of cultural resources in terms of period, theme, property type, architectural form and style, and geographic distribution. The survey will consider architectural and historic development from the end of the Federal period c.1830 through the Early Industrial period, c.1870. Significant themes of historical and architectural development will be identified, and resources will be related to these themes.

The community survey will identify buildings and structures that are architecturally and historically significant in the history and development of the community during the early 19th century. The survey will include both representative and outstanding examples of the building forms, types, and styles present in the City of Newton.

MHC individual property and area inventory forms, maps and National Register recommendations will be completed and submitted to MHC in accordance with the survey guidelines set forth in the MHC's Historic Properties Survey Manual: Guidelines for the Identification of Historic and Archaeological Resources in Massachusetts (1992) and Survey Technical Bulletin #1 (1993), MHC Interim Survey Guidelines (March 1999 et seq.), and MHC Interim Guidelines for Inventory Form Photographs (2009), MHC Interim Guidelines for Inventory Form Locational Information (2013), as well as the Secretary of the Interior's Standards and Guidelines for Identification (1983, copies available from the MHC). These publications and memoranda are all incorporated into this contract by reference. The work to be carried out during each phase, and products due at the end of each phase, are described on the following pages.

Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on Line 1 to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is your Social Security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the Part I instructions on page 3. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see Note to get a TIN on page 5.

Note: If the account is in more than one name, see the chart on page 4 for guidelines on whose number to enter.

Part II

Certification

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

1. The number shown in this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me), and
2. I am not subject to backup withholding because (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding, and
3. I am a U.S. citizen or other U.S. person (defined below).

Certification Instructions. You must cross out form 2 above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because you have failed to report all interest and dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply.

General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Form

A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to report, for example, income paid to you, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA. Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN to the person requesting it (the requester) and, when applicable, to:

1. Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued).
2. Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or
3. Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the backup withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income.

Note: If a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.

Definition of a U.S. person. For federal tax purposes, you are considered a U.S. person if you are:

• An individual who is a U.S. citizen or a U.S. resident alien;
• A partnership, corporation, company, or association created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States;
• An estate (other than a foreign estate), or
• A domestic trust (as defined in Regulations section 301.7701-7).

Special rules for partnerships. Partnerships that conduct a trade or business in the United States are generally required to pay a withholding tax on any foreign partners' share of income from such business. Further, in certain cases where a Form W-9 has not been received, a partnership is required to prorate that a partner is a foreign person, and pay the withholding tax. Therefore, if you are a U.S. person that is a partner in a partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States, provide Form W-9 to the partnership to establish your U.S. status and avoid withholding on your share of partnership income.

The person who gives Form W-9 to the partnership is responsible for purposes of establishing its U.S. status and avoiding withholding on its allocable share of income from the partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States in the following cases:

• The U.S. owner of a disregarded entity and not the entity.
